Just thought I'd throw an update out there. I haven't blogged here in over a year, and that trend is likely to continue into the foreseeable future.

I recently moved off-campus to a lovely little apartment. I like the privacy and the space, but I do miss having constant access to the internet.

In accordance with this, my plans to continue my blog at <http://www.slaxer.com> have been somewhat thwarted. I'm going to have to plan in times to make blog posts into my schedule, I think.

In any case, look for blog posts from me at the above address. Who knows, maybe one day I'll be relevant enough to make the news feed here at tuxmachines.
