

Published on Tux Machines (<http://www.tuxmachines.org>)

Home > Blogs > adriantry's blog > You Tried OpenOffice.org. Where do we go from here?

You Tried OpenOffice.org. Where do we go from here?

By adriantry

Created 13/11/2008 - 9:23pm

Submitted by adriantry on Thursday 13th of November 2008 09:23:31 PM Filed under Just talk [1]

Over the last four days, we have been taking a tour of OpenOffice.org Writer. We have explored some of its features which may feel familiar to you, as well as looking at some features which may give you a whole new way of working.

How did you find the journey? If you haven't taken time to sit down in front of your computer and actually follow the tutorials step by step, consider doing that now. Most people learn much better by doing rather than just reading.

The main thing to remember is to stick with it. Even if certain procedures feel awkward or foreign to begin with, they will become much more natural over time. For anything more complicated than a simple letter, I encourage you to start using styles. Styles will unlock the power of OpenOffice.org like nothing else will. Start with paragraph styles, and go from there.

Rest of article [2]

Just talk

Source URL: <http://www.tuxmachines.org/node/32173>

Links:

[1] <http://www.tuxmachines.org/taxonomy/term/68>

[2] <http://www.adriantry.com/you-tried-openofficeorg-where-do-we-go-from-here/>